Scarboro (President) Fights to Stay Afloat (during LGN)

The article published in the Stirling Times was a selection from comments I made in a fairly long interview. The heading was unfortunate and the content not representative of the discussion as a whole though in part reasonably accurate. Overall I'd rather say we'll be facing challenges that we're sure we can meet and that we're increasingly confident that a good outcome for the club will be achieved. It's become obvious to us watching City of Perth over the last 18 months and from comment by Bel and Chris Kuster that clubs can continue to operate and even thrive when they don't have a permanent home. As I mentioned on Sunday night, training and competition form part of the glue that holds a club together, never more apparent than watching Rick Turner's athletes training on our beach. There's also the social aspect with polar bears and Sunday morning coffees which we intend to continue from the container compound. A Friday night bar is yet to be arranged but I'm sure we can make a deal with one of the local beachfront establishments.

Competition gear to go home

If you're not going to the Aussies it's time to start taking competition gear home. We're expecting to move from our existing clubrooms to temporary accommodation around the end of April to early May. Before then we need to dismantle some of the racking and reinstall, either to the temporary compound or to sites further afield. The sooner we free up space the sooner we can start the process. You'll need to negotiate with your area captain if you're currently using club gear about home storage given they'll only be limited space in allotted club storage. All private gear will need to go home.

State Titles

Good effort by our competitors across a number of disciplines meant we had some table action on Sunday night. Very pleasing too was the all in club effort to pack up the beach with everybody lending a hand and turning what has been a three hour exercise into being over in only an hour.

TC

I gave a talk at the party and thanked various people for their work that day and across the season but the big omission was failing to acknowledge the members that had been on patrol that weekend and will need to be this Easter. When I came down on Sunday evening TC was there again in patrol uniform. How many hours has TC done this season and how much does the club rely on his presence?

Great Party

The State Afters party was a fitting send off to the old clubrooms. A great crowd, good food, DJ Moody and another LGN without incident, possibly lucky it wasn't rough. After learning a painful lesson about hamstrings I had to relearn the lesson about alcohol and acting one's age. At least I wasn't the only one who needed reminding on the first point.

Competition

Congratulations to the competitors on the weekend, and previous weekends. Scarborough was well represented in most arenas on the beach.

Thank you from me and from all involved to the many volunteers who gave up their time and so capably officiated, coached, set up, packed up, fixed equipment, cheered...

Next stop... the Aussies.... And I know you are all on track with this and keeping in touch with the office and your coaches!

Ski Paddlers

Or do you want to become the next Shannon Eckstein or Jordy Mercer? Either way, ski paddling is an integral part in Surf Life Saving. Whether you are looking to become an iron person or a specialist paddler, you have to start somewhere. The Scarborough Surf Club has a great history and tradition of ski paddling in and we are continually looking for anyone interested in paddling for Scarborough to keep this tradition going strong. If you have your bronze and are U/25 and want to try out, we are conducting trials at the Club Sunday April 3 at 9am. We will have experienced paddlers to help you set up the ski and guide you through the basics of paddling. From there, if you think paddling is the sport for you, we will coach you to become a competitive paddler for the coming 2016/17 season and hopefully beyond. We have planned training sessions for all levels of ability and, under the guidance of Scott Wright, Bob Welch and Mike Pond, we will get you flying in no time.

If you or your parents have any questions, please email Scott Wright - sfwright@icloud.com

STATES WRAP

We had quite a successful States picking up 9 medals overall. We saw some fantastic performances and some highlights throughout the weekend...and on Sunday evening. Enough said on that. We are building a solid and competitive squad and on the back of these performances, we see a bright future for all of our paddlers.
